SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Graduate Student Handbook* 2014-2015

The University and the School of Music reserve the right to change any provision, offering (courses or services) or requirement at any time within a student's period of study at LSU. Students are required to adhere to the policies, procedures, and stipulations outlined in the most current School of Music Handbook, regardless of the year in which they entered the program. Students are personally responsible for knowing and completing all degree requirements established by the University, College, or Department, and for keeping informed of any changes that may occur as they do so.*

INTRODUCTION TO GRADUATE STUDY

Welcome to the Louisiana State University School of Music and congratulations on your decision to pursue a graduate degree. We hope you will find the experience challenging and rewarding, and that you will make many meaningful and lasting friendships as you work with us and your fellow students.

One primary difference between undergraduate and graduate study is that the responsibility lies more fully on the graduate student to seek out opportunities for musical growth beyond the requirements of a lecture or a lesson. Students who explore the libraries, lecture and concert venues, and the myriad resources of the University and the community will discover that a world of information and entertainment awaits them.

Opportunities for musical and intellectual growth extend far beyond the classroom or practice room. Strive to take advantage of every opportunity offered to you. Recitals, lectures, rehearsals, and other musical and cultural events take place almost continuously on the campus, in the city of Baton Rouge, and in surrounding areas. Join in and enjoy!

Students are responsible for the requirements, policies, and deadlines explained in this booklet, in the Graduate Bulletin (available on the Graduate School website) and on My LSU. Please read and follow the requirements carefully. The Graduate School Calendar (found on the Graduate School website: gradlsu.gs.lsu.edu) is extremely important. For assistance, enlist aid from your major professor or the Director of Graduate Studies.

Be assured that you are valued highly. The faculty and staff of the School of Music stand ready to engage with your efforts to advance your musical skills and to help you achieve recognition for excellence in performance, scholarship, and creative activity. Best wishes on a productive and successful journey through your graduate degree.

GENERAL INFORMATION FOR ALL GRADUATE STUDENTS

Provisional Admission and Probationary Admission

Most grad students are initially admitted with provisional status. In order to clear provisional admission status, students must submit final copies of transcripts showing that they completed all coursework and graduated from their previous institution, or other official documents requested by the Graduate School by a given deadline. If your admission status was probationary, you should have received a letter from the Graduate School detailing the requirements of your probation. For example, an international student who was admitted by appeal with TOEFL scores lower than 550 must repeat the examination and obtain a minimum required score of 550 (paper based), 213 (computer based), or 79 (internet based). If you fail to fulfill these requirements, you may be removed from the Graduate School. All students admitted with probationary or provisional status must enroll for at least nine credit hours each semester. For more information, consult the Graduate Bulletin on the Graduate School website.

Requirements to Remain in Good Standing

Each graduate student is required to remain in good standing with the LSU Graduate School. In general, this means making satisfactory progress towards the degree and maintaining a cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.0. Satisfactory progress includes taking all required remediation in a timely manner. Should you fail to fulfill this requirement, you may be dropped from the Graduate School and denied the right to continue working toward your degree. In most cases, unless the problem is extremely severe, a semester of academic probation is assigned to allow the student the opportunity to raise the grade point average. No more than 6 hours of C grades can count toward any graduate degree.

Resident Status

You may be able to establish Louisiana residency by meeting several simple requirements (getting a Louisiana Driving License, paying Louisiana State Income Tax, and not being claimed as a dependent on your parent's tax returns, for example). If you have questions, please contact Marie Hamilton, Assistant Dean of the Graduate School, 119 David Boyd.

Diagnostic and Advisory Examinations

All entering graduate students in the School of Music (including students with undergraduate degrees from LSU) must take Diagnostic Examinations in music theory and music history. Students who receive a Masters degree from LSU and enter a doctoral program within four years are not required to take these exams. Diagnostic examinations are given at the beginning of each semester (usually on the Thursday before the first day of classes). Failure to appear for the test will result in remediation being required automatically. A student may repeat the tests in a subsequent semester, but after two failures, the remedial classes will be required.

The primary purpose of diagnostic and advisory exams is to determine whether remediation is needed. Remedial courses, MUS 3710 in Music History and MUS 3703 in Music Theory, may be recommended or required, based on these exams. Remedial courses do NOT count toward a graduate degree. They do fulfill the requirement of carrying 9 hours of credit (for full time registration).

Diagnostic Examination in Music Theory

The examination covers basic aural skills test (including melodic and harmonic dictation exercises) and knowledge about diatonic and chromatic harmony, basic counterpoint, and formal analysis. Students are expected to be fluent in the rudiments of music and musical notation, to have a thorough grasp of common practice harmony and voice leading, to read music as notated in orchestral full scores, to recognize the form types found in music of the common practice period, and to be acquainted with the most prevalent elements of post-tonal practices. Composition majors may be required to take additional examinations in modal and tonal counterpoint. Sample questions can be viewed on the School of Music website: follow links under Admissions/Graduate/Diagnostic Exams.

Diagnostic Examination in Music History

Students are examined on their knowledge of Western music history from the Middle Ages to the present. The level expected is equivalent to that of graduating music majors at LSU. Students who demonstrate a satisfactory command of this material may proceed directly to the 7000-level Music History courses required for their programs of study; those who do not will be required to take Music 3710 before being allowed to enroll in a 7000-level Music History course. Sample questions can be viewed on the School of Music website: follow the links under Admissions/Graduate/Diagnostic Exams.

ENROLLMENT, ADVISING, AND REGISTRATION PROCEDURES

FACULTY ADVISORS and THE DIRECTOR OF GRADUATE STUDIES

Graduate students are advised by faculty members in their area of concentration, that is, their major professor or applied performance instructor. The advisor normally serves as the chair of the student's graduate committee and oversees the Master's Comprehensive, Doctoral General, and Doctoral Final examinations. The advisor's role is to assist the student in preparing a course of study for the degree and in selecting courses to be taken each semester. A curriculum guide for each graduate degree can be found below in the current document. The Director of Graduate Studies can also assist you in interpreting and following the curriculum guides, and in preparing degree audits to ensure that you stay on track to fulfill requirements and meet deadlines for timely completion of your degree. Plan ahead: be sure to inform your advisor and the Director of Graduate Studies well ahead of time when you plan to take milestone exams, give a recital, or graduate.

REGISTRATION PROCEDURES

Students register online, using their myLSU accounts. Consultation with your major professor is recommended when choosing courses each semester. Detailed instructions for completing this part of registration are given in the Schedule Booklet available online (follow links from LSU A-Z: "Course Offerings," "Schedule Booklet" for current semester.) Take special note of the following:

1. Pre-registration is required each semester. While entering students may only register the week before classes begin, penalties apply to continuing students who do not meet the pre-registration and fee payment deadlines. Read the schedule of classes carefully and pre-register before the deadline or you will be charged a $75.00 late charge.
2. Always re-confirm your classes by checking your status on myLSU.
3. Payroll deduction: This process is for graduate assistants and fellowship recipients who desire to have tuition paid over 9 months. The cost of tuition is deducted 9 times from the monthly assistantship check: simply choose "Payroll Deduct" under Payment Options. If you do not repeat this selection each semester, you will receive a bill for the complete tuition amount.
4. Be sure to COMPLETE REGISTRATION by selecting this option at the bottom of the form, or your courses will be purged and you will have to register all over again.

Drop/Add Deadline: After you complete registration, any changes to your schedule can still be made before the deadline stated on the Graduate School Calendar. If you drop a class after the deadline, you will earn a grade of W. It is a good idea to check with your instructors to be sure your name is on their course roster for each class you take.

ADDITIONAL ENROLLMENT REQUIREMENTS AND REGULATIONS FOR STUDENTS HOLDING FELLOWSHIPS AND ASSISTANTSHIPS

Fellowships

While holding a Graduate Fellowship (Board of Regents Fellowship, Huel Perkins Fellowship, or other), students must be enrolled for at least 9 hours every Spring and Fall semester, and for at least 6 hours each summer. Outside employment is not permitted while holding certain fellowships: review the terms of your agreement carefully.

Graduate Teaching Assistantships

Students holding assistantships are issued contracts stating the duties and number of hours of work assigned. Specific duty assignments are made at the beginning of each semester, and may change depending upon student abilities and the needs of the School of Music. Assistantships are 9-month contracts; no duties or stipends apply to the summer term. The contract period begins the Monday before the first day of classes each semester. Students holding assistantships are required to be enrolled for a minimum of 9 credit hours, of which at least 6 hours must be in graduate-level courses. Students who drop below nine hours during any given semester may lose their assistantship.

When considering fees charged, keep in mind the following: 1) the assistantship amount is for nine months; 2) taxes will be deducted from the assistantship amount; 3) miscellaneous fees and tuition costs may vary from semester to semester. It is advisable to maintain some extra funds to cover unexpected costs.

Performance of Duties

As a graduate assistant, you are expected to perform your assigned duties in a professional manner, with the utmost attention to satisfactory performance. Remember that the patterns of professional conduct you establish during this period will remain with you when you leave school and accept a professional position. The work of the graduate assistant is vital to the School of Music, whether that work is teaching classes or lessons, performing in an ensemble, accompanying, assisting with recording services, or serving as a research assistant. Graduate assistants will undergo a review of their work each year, and will be informed of the results. Failure to perform in a satisfactory manner may lead to a reduction or cancellation of the assistantship. Failure to make adequate degree progress may also cause the assistantship to be reduced or canceled.

Absence from Assistantship Duties

Please consult your major professor, the Director of Graduate Studies, or the Director of the School of Music if you are unable to fulfill your duty assignment. In the case of an emergency, graduate students must notify their immediate supervisor if duties will be missed. For an off-campus trip (tour, competition, presentation, etc.), graduate assistants must have the written permission of the Director of the School of Music to miss assigned duties. In addition, the student must also notify their immediate supervisors in writing before the event.

Renewal and Extension of Assistantship Contracts

Renewal during the contracted period of an assistantship is generally automatic, but is dependent upon satisfactory progress in the degree program and acceptable performance of assigned duties. Extension of an assistantship beyond the initially contracted period must be requested in writing by the major professor and will be considered in light of student accomplishments, departmental needs, and budgetary status. Such extensions are the exception, not the rule.

Summer Tuition Waiver

A student who holds a graduate assistantship during the fall and spring semesters (two consecutive semesters) of the academic year will receive, as an added benefit, a full tuition waiver for summer school if the budget to cover such costs remains intact. You will still be required to pay all required fees.

Keys

A limited number of building keys will be issued to Graduate Assistants needing access to offices and classrooms. For each key issued, a $25.00 deposit will be required, which will be refunded upon return of the key when no longer needed. Please protect your University keys, and report any loss of a University key immediately, so that security concerns may be addressed. Keys may be obtained from Joshua Ledet in the School of Music office (SOM 102). A faculty member's signature may be required.

RECITAL HALL AND RECITAL SCHEDULING POLICIES

These Guidelines may also be found online at www.music.lsu.edu. The School of Music Recital Hall is used for a wide variety of events. Following the guidelines for scheduling rehearsals and recitals will avoid last-minute crises.

GUIDELINES

1. All recitals must be recorded by the School of Music recording staff.
2. All recital programs must be printed in the standard format by staff from the School of Music.
3. A nonrefundable fee of $75.00 is charged to the student for all degree and non-degree recitals.

RESTRICTIONS

1. Student recitals must occur in the School of Music Recital Hall unless approved by the Director of the School of Music (i.e. organ recitals occur at locations other than the School of Music).
2. Student recitals may not be scheduled during any of the following times: Concentrated Study Period, Final Exams, University holidays, or on Saturdays.
3. Recital Times are: Monday - Friday at 4:00 pm, 5:30 pm or 7:30 pm. Students requesting a 4:00 pm recital will be required to have a signature from their applied instructor insuring that the performance, including intermission, will not exceed 60 minutes. Sunday recital slots are available for recitals only during the month of April: Sunday recital time slots are: 2:00 pm, 4:00 pm, and 6:00 pm.
4. Dress rehearsals in the Recital Hall may be scheduled during the following weekday time periods only: 9:00 to 10:30, 10:30 to noon, noon to 1:30 and 1:30 to 3:00. Weekends are also available for 1.5 hour blocks. It is the user's responsibility to secure a key to the Recital Hall in advance: contact Joshua Ledet (SOM 102).

FACULTY PIANIST

The School of Music provides a faculty pianist (Dianne Frazer) for Doctoral Solo Recitals (Music 9001 and 9002), Concerto with Orchestra (using piano reduction; Music 9005), and Lecture Recitals with Written Document (Music 9010). Music 9008 Chamber Recitals are not included.

Contact time with the Ms. Frazer, whether in or out of the lesson setting, can equal up to 8.5 hours, including the dress rehearsal and the performance. Arrangements for any other collaborative services (extra rehearsals, qualifying recitals, concerto competitions, opera auditions, juries, etc.) are the financial responsibility of the student.

SCHEDULING YOUR RECITAL

1. Register for the appropriate course number and the correct number of hours. You will not be able to reserve a recital date without proof of registration and fee payment.
2. Select a date for your recital. Check availability of dates on the School of Music Planning Calendar. Also select two alternative dates in case conflicts arise.
3. Make an agreement with your pianist, applied teacher, and ensemble members prioritizing the three selected dates. You should also agree on three possible dress rehearsal dates/times.
4. Make a scheduling appointment with Bill Kelley using the Recital Scheduling Appointment Calendar on the School of Music website. Graduate students should schedule appointments during the first week of the semester. Undergraduate students should make scheduling appointments during the second week of the semester. Appointments for non-required recitals (both graduate and undergraduate) will be scheduled during the third week of the semester. No additional recital scheduling will take place after the third week of classes.
5. Reserve your recital date. You may not reserve a recital date without proof of registration and fee payment. Bring a copy of your schedule to your recital scheduling appointment. At your recital scheduling appointment your recital and dress rehearsal dates will be entered onto the calendar. You will receive an e-mail confirmation of the recital date. An e-mail will also be sent to your applied teacher, pianist, piano technician (if needed), program staff and recording staff. It is YOUR RESPONSIBILITY to confirm the date/time with all other musicians involved in your recital.

CANCELLATION AND RESCHEDULING

1. Once a recital date is set, it will not be changed except in a medical or family emergency. Documentation (e.g. a note from a physician) may be required. It is unprofessional and very inconvenient to cancel or reschedule a recital; you should never do this unless it is absolutely necessary. Rescheduling will require approval of the Director of the School of Music in consultation with the applied instructor.
2. Undergraduate recitals cannot be cancelled without permission of the College Academic Counselor in the School of Music. Graduate recitals cannot be cancelled without permission of the Director of the School of Music. Bill Kelley will not cancel or reschedule your recital unless directed to do so by one of the administrative staff listed above. It is both inconvenient and unprofessional to cancel a scheduled recital: please avoid doing so unless it is absolutely necessary.

RECITAL PROGRAMS

Programs are official University documents. In addition to serving as a program for the recital, these documents are stored in archives to provide permanent records of School of Music activities. It is important that they be uniform and professional in appearance.

Submit program information to musicpr@lsu.edu at least three weeks prior to the date of your recital. Recital program information submitted should include: student name, date/time/place of your recital, teacher's name, your degree program, program order (including intermission), titles of works (correctly spelled, with all necessary diacritical marks), composers names and their dates, a listing of individual movements, and the names of all performers for each work. Creation and printing of any supplementary program notes is the responsibility of the student.

RECEPTIONS

A reception after the recital may be held in the Faculty Conference Room of the School of Music (SOM 105). You must reserve the room at least two weeks before the event and obtain a key on the last working day prior to the recital from Joshua Ledet.

OTHER GENERAL INFORMATION and REGULATIONS:

Personal Safety

Building hours are 6:30 AM to 11:45 PM Monday through Friday and 6:30AM to 10:15 PM on weekends. Entering or remaining in the music buildings during other times is strictly forbidden, and may result in criminal charges. For your own safety and to protect others, please do not block doors open or attempt to enter the buildings after hours. Music buildings may be closed on home football game Saturdays.

Be cautious and alert to danger: we have experienced robbery and assault on the LSU campus in the past. Please report any unauthorized persons or suspicious behavior to the School of Music office or to the Campus Police (578-3231).

Academic Integrity

Students are expected to maintain the highest standards of academic integrity and personal behavior. This includes, but is not limited to: honesty on all tests, assignments, and papers; avoidance of plagiarism, and adherence to all university policies concerning sexual harassment. Any faculty member suspecting that a student has been involved in dishonest or harassing activities is required to report those activities to the Dean of Students.

Student Appeals

Any student who thinks that they have been unfairly treated or who wishes to question an academic process or appeal a grade should consult the General Catalog for instructions.

Use of School of Music Facilities for Teaching

Students are encouraged to teach private students through the LSU Performing Arts Academy (PAA). The Academy office provides numerous opportunities to gain valuable teaching experience as well as additional income through teaching. It also provides services such as publicity and bookkeeping, as well as recitals and other events. Contact Edward White, Director of the PAA, at 578-3230 or edwardwhite@lsu.edu. Use of University facilities (including offices, classrooms, and practice rooms) by students for teaching private or group lessons requires affiliation with the PAA. Private teaching under any other arrangement is against university policy.

Excused Absences from Classes, Lessons, and Rehearsals

Excused absences may be granted for certain off-campus performances, presentations, or obligations that are directly related to the LSU experience. The Director of the School of Music must approve all requests from ensemble directors. In most cases, students will be made aware of these absences at the beginning of the semester. It is the student's responsibility to make up any course material covered during their absence. Absence from class for any event not specifically approved by the Director is considered an unexcused absence.

Reserving Rooms

Other rooms (including certain classrooms) may be reserved for rehearsals involving chamber groups and small ensembles. To reserve rooms in the SOM or MDA, please contact Zachary Hazelwood (zhazel1@lsu.edu) or Joshua Ledet (jgledet@lsu.edu).

Recording Services

Excellent recording services are available through the School of Music. The fee paid for degree recitals covers the cost of the initial recording. Additional services (copying, editing, or additional recording sessions) are available for a reasonable fee. Contact Bill Kelley, Recording Engineer (wdkelley@lsu.edu) for additional information.

Lockers

A limited number of lockers are available for rent in both buildings. If you locate a locker that currently does not have a lock on it, see Joshua Ledet (SOM 102) to arrange the rental. There is a $50 deposit fee and $50 non-refundable rental fee for each locker. A lock will be provided; you may not use your own.

Student Travel Funds

Funding is available in support of professional opportunities for full-time music students. Eligible events include competitions, paper presentations, and other professional performing opportunities. (Travel within the state of Louisiana is not eligible for funding.) See Joshua Ledet, SOM 102, for information and application forms. Applications must be completed a minimum of six weeks before the travel takes place.

Graduation Exercises

We encourage you to participate in commencement exercises, and to celebrate your achievements along with those of your friends and colleagues. Academic regalia may be rented or purchased at the University Bookstore.

MASTER OF MUSIC DEGREES

Degree Requirements & Curricular Guides

Curricular guides for all Master of Music degrees are included in the following pages of this Graduate Handbook. Each student in a Master's curriculum should study the Degree Program for his/her concentration and refer to it in the process of selecting courses. Questions regarding interpretation of the degree program and choices of courses should be discussed with one's advisor and the Director of Graduate Studies. However, it is the responsibility of each graduate student to complete all degree requirements and adhere to all deadlines. Rules and deadlines that pertain to graduate students can be found in the Graduate Bulletin (under "Graduate School" in LSU A-Z, or the Schedule Booklet for the current semester (under "Course Offerings" in LSU A-Z).

Diagnostic Examinations

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who do not pass the theory exam must pass Music 3703 Theory Survey before they can enroll in 7000-level music theory courses; students who do not pass the music history exam must pass Music 3710 Overview of Western Music History before they can enroll in 7000-level music history courses.

Faculty Advisory Committee

A committee made up of at least three members of the School of Music faculty, will serve in an advisory capacity for each Masters student. The committee should be chosen in consultation with the student's major professor who will normally serve as chair of the committee. At least two members must come from the student's immediate area of specialization.

Time Limit

Typically, two years is sufficient time to complete the requirements for a Master's degree. If a student does not complete the degree in five years, the student will need to request revalidation of some or all previously completed coursework.

Graduating Students: Required Forms

All graduating MM students must submit an Application for Master's Degree and a Request for Master's Examination. Both forms are available on the Graduate School website. Deadlines for submission are set by the Graduate School: these forms will be due early in the semester you intend to graduate. Make an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies, who can help you fill them out correctly before you gather the required signatures. Failure to file these required forms on time will result in a delay in your graduation.

Masters Recital (Music 7798)

Required for: Master of Music in Performance, Master of Music in Composition, and Master of Music in Conducting. Register for the required number of hours shown in the curriculum guide for your degree, and follow instructions given above for scheduling your recital. Your major professor and at least one other member of your area faculty must submit grades for your recital to the Director of Graduate Studies. For best results, schedule your recital as early in the semester as possible.

Master's Thesis (Music 8000)

Required for: Musicology, Music Theory, Composition, and optional in Music Education. Students must register for 1-6 credits every semester in which they work on a thesis. A minimum of six credit hours are required.

The Masters Thesis, complete and in final form, must be submitted to all members of the committee at least two weeks prior to the oral final examination (defense). The student must schedule the oral examination by filling out the form Application for Master's Exam, which must be submitted to the Graduate School three weeks prior to the examination date and before the deadline set each semester by the Graduate School. All members of the advisory committee must be present at the final exam unless permission is obtained in advance from the Dean of the Graduate School to proceed otherwise.

It is imperative to check with the Graduate school regarding requirements for submitting and uploading your thesis. Information can be found on the graduate school homepage, ETD Process (Electronic Thesis and Dissertation). The thesis student is urged to schedule an appointment and consult with the Graduate School Editor prior to the defense of the thesis to ensure that the thesis format meets required University style.

Music Education students who write a thesis defend their thesis in an oral exam instead of taking a written comprehensive exam. Musicology, Music Theory, and Composition students will, in addition to the written comprehensive exam, defend their theses in oral examinations. For Musicology and Music Theory students, the oral defense may, at the discretion of the faculty, follow up on weaknesses of the written examination. For Composition students, the oral defense will address only the thesis document itself.

Masters Comprehensive Examinations

The date of the Master's Comprehensive Examination is set by the School of Music and normally takes place each semester shortly after the mid-semester examination period. The dates are posted on the Graduate Bulletin Board and on the School of Music website. The Comprehensive Exam is normally a three-hour written examination prepared and graded by the faculty advisory committee. Questions on the Master's exam are generally limited to the candidate's primary area of study. You must be enrolled for at least one credit during the semester in which you take the Comprehensive Examination (or during a required repetition of the examination).

DOCTORAL DEGREES

Curriculum Guides

Curriculum Guides for each degree are provided below. Doctoral students should follow the curriculum guide carefully when selecting coursework each semester. Courses should be chosen in consultation with one's major professor and the Director of Graduate Studies.

MUS 7800

This course, which prepares students for the research demanded by many courses and for the final research project, is required of all doctoral students, and is offered every year during the Fall semester and some summers. Students should take this course as early in their degree program as possible.

For those students who have previously taken an intensive research course and wish to inquire about opting out of MUS 7800, the process is as follows: 1) send an e-mail request to Dr. James Byo (jbyo@lsu.edu) explaining the situation, and schedule a meeting with him; 2) submit a syllabus of the course you have taken along with the grade received; 3) submit a master's thesis or a major research paper; and 4) pass an examination on the modes of inquiry covered in Music 7800.

Time Limit

The Graduate School enforces a seven year limit for the completion of doctoral degrees, starting with the first semester of enrollment in a doctoral program.

This time limit may only be exceeded by special permission from the student's advisory committee. Extensions require can be granted for only one year at a time. More than a single, one-year extension may be granted for truly exceptional circumstances. Each meeting's purpose is to address the validity of the written request by the student, endorse the quality of the candidate's preparation/research, and establish a reasonable expectation for completion given the circumstances. Outcomes from this meeting will be formally documented, authorized by the unit authority and archived with the Graduate School. All records of actions will be kept in the student's file in the School of Music as well as stored electronically in the student's graduate school file.

Qualifying Examination/Recital

During the first year of study, the doctoral student should complete the Qualifying process. Performance majors pursuing the Doctor of Musical Arts degree (DMA) will present a qualifying recital to the faculty in their performance areas. Students in composition, music education, music theory, and musicology will be given a qualifying examination by the area coordinator. Upon successful completion of the Qualifying Examination/Recital, the Major Professor will complete and submit to the Director of Graduate Studies the "Record of Qualifying Examination." Students must complete the qualifying process before the end of their second semester in order to achieve satisfactory progress toward their degrees.

Doctoral Advisory Committee

Upon completion of the Qualifying Exam, students choose an advisory committee in consultation with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The minor professor must be a member of the committee along with one additional music faculty member, who is normally a member of the major area faculty. The Graduate School will appoint a Dean's Representative who will serve at the General and Final Examinations. All committee members must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty, and at least two must be full members.

Doctoral Degree Audit

The Doctoral Degree Audit should be completed in draft form in consultation with the Director of Graduate Studies upon successful completion of the Qualifying Examination. This form is available on the Graduate School website/enrolled students/forms.

The Doctoral Degree Audit is a complete list of all coursework that the student must complete for their degree. It is advisable to maintain a working draft of this document, updating it each semester to reflect your progress. The final and official version of the Doctoral Degree Audit form is submitted along with the Request for General Examination early in the semester during which you take your General Exams. These forms require signatures from all of your committee members and the Director of Graduate Studies. Make an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies well before your exam to be sure your request and audit forms are complete and correct before you obtain the required signatures. (The Graduate School checks these forms very carefully and will reject incomplete or incorrect forms.)

Minor Area

A minor area is a coherent program consisting of at least 9 hours of study, and is required for all doctoral degrees in music. Most music students choose an “internal” minor (that is, one involving additional music coursework), but some degrees encourage or require that the minor be outside of music. The specific coursework for an individual student will be selected in consultation with the minor professor. The minor professor and the coordinator of the minor area or the chair of the minor department must approve the minor program. The minor professor serves on the committee for the general and final examinations, and will normally submit written questions for the third day of the General Examination. A list of suggested coursework for internal minors in music is provided on p. 23 below.

The Minor for the Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) in Music

Candidates for the PhD in Music Theory, Music Education, Composition, or EM/DM may select any area of study in which a graduate degree is offered. Although most music students select an “internal” minor (one that involves additional coursework in music, in any area in which a graduate degree is offered), an outside minor may be chosen in consultation with the major area faculty. For the PhD in Music History, the minor must be selected from an area of study outside the School of Music.

The Minor for the Doctor of Musical Arts (DMA) in Music

Each DMA student must select a minor area, which may be chosen from any area or department in which a graduate degree is offered (the Vocal Pedagogy minor for Vocal Performance majors is an exception to this requirement). The minor may be either within or outside the School of Music. The major and minor professor may not be the same person.

Doctoral Recitals

Doctoral recitals (MUS 9001 - MUS 9008) are selected and scheduled in consultation with one's advisor. Students may not schedule recitals until they register for the appropriate course number and pay the recital fee. Recital grades are submitted by faculty from the performance area and recorded by the Director of Graduate Studies. If a documented medical or family emergency prevents the performance of a scheduled recital, the student will receive an "I" grade (incomplete). The incomplete must be made up by the end of the next regular semester or the grade will automatically change to a permanent F on the student's academic record. (Please note that the student need not register again for a course in which they receive an "I" grade. Refer to the Graduate Bulletin for the criteria justifying an “I” grade and required documentation.)

General Examinations

Upon completion of all or almost all required coursework, the student will take the General Examination, which consists of two separate parts: a written exam and an oral exam. The oral exam usually follows one to three weeks after the written exam. Students must be enrolled for at least three credits during the semester in which they take any portion of the general exam, including any required repetition of the examination.

For PhD students in Musicology, this examination consists of three written exams of three hours each: normally in the order (1) musicology, (2) music history, and (3) minor area.

For PhD students in Music Education, the examination is designed individually by the faculty of the music education area.

For DMA students in Performance and Conducting and PhD students in Music Theory, Composition, and Experimental Music & Digital Media, the examination consists of several components, which vary according to the specific performance area. In every case, the minor area shall be one component of the exam. The student should consult the major professor for information on the specific components of the exam. The written exams are scheduled by the School of Music and usually take place near the middle of the semester each Fall and Spring. General examinations for doctoral candidates are not normally scheduled in summer semesters.

Scheduling Your General Examination

Deadlines and procedures for scheduling and reporting the General Exams are strictly enforced by the Graduate School. Students are strongly advised to meet all deadlines in order to avoid delays in graduation. It is advisable to make an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies several months before you anticipate taking your exams to discuss the procedure. The "Request for Doctoral General Exam" is available online on the Graduate School website/enrolled students/forms. As noted above, this form is accompanied by the official version of your Doctoral Degree Audit.

Deadline: three weeks before the date chosen for the ORAL Examination. This form must be completed by the student in consultation with his/her major professor and doctoral committee.

The committee for the general examination normally consists of at least three members of the graduate faculty, including the major professor, the minor professor, and one other. All must be members of the Graduate Faculty, and at least two must be full or six-or seven-year associate members. At least two must come from the student's specific area of specialization. In addition, a Dean's Representative will be appointed by the Graduate School to serve on each doctoral committee. All members of the committee must be present for the oral examination (and any exception requires the approval of the Dean of the Graduate School). See the Graduate School website/Graduate Faculty for a list of Full and Associate Members of the Graduate Faculty.

Requirement for Continuous Enrollment

Following successful completion of the general exams, the candidate is required by the Graduate School to register each regular semester (not summer sessions) for at least three credit hours in the appropriate final research project course (MUS 9000, 9009, or 9010), until the completion of the final research project and a successful defense. This requirement may not be waived.

Final Research Projects: Overview

MUS 9000 Dissertation Research - a minimum of nine credit hours is required

MUS 9009 Research and Monograph - a minimum of nine credit hours is required

MUS 9010 Lecture Recital & Written Document – a minimum of 9 credit hours is required.

All Final Research Project course numbers may be repeated for credit. Students often take more than the minimum required in order to complete the project. All Final Research Projects require approval of a Prospectus (see below).

Dissertation MUS 9000: Requirements and Specifics

A dissertation is required of all students in the PhD degree programs (music education, music theory, musicology, composition, and electronic music/digital media). The dissertation must be an original contribution to knowledge in the student's major field of study. It should demonstrate a mastery of research techniques, ability to complete original and independent research, and skill in formulating conclusions that in some way enlarge upon or modify accepted ideas.

Music Education

The PhD dissertation in music education is one that makes a significant and unique contribution to the theoretical understanding of teaching and learning music. Often these dissertations are results of basic research in tempo, pitch, dynamics, timbre, style discrimination, preference, and/or performance. Other dissertations might concern unique, innovative approaches to teaching and learning. The results of these dissertations may or may not have any immediate practical value.

Music Theory and Musicology

The PhD dissertation in music theory or musicology is one that makes a significant and unique contribution to the available research in theory or music history. Consultation with your major professor and doctoral committee is important in the determination of an appropriate topic.

Composition

The final research project in composition consists of two parts. The first part is a research report of the approximate scope and size of a DMA monograph on some aspect of twentieth-century music. It may consist of a study of the contributions of a composer, of a group of compositions, or individual concepts and techniques of composition in the twentieth century. The second part consists of a musical composition at least 20 minutes in duration, which must include a symphony orchestra.

Experimental Music/Digital Media (EM/DM)

The final research project in experimental music/digital media should make a significant and unique contribution to the art, practice, and theoretical understanding of experimental music and digital media. Such contributions would include a written document, along with an original composition, [or?] a performance recital or other digitally mediated content of extended scope and depth all of which engages musical experimentation and digital media.

Monograph (MUS 9009)

A monograph is required for all DMA candidates in conducting and is an option for all other DMA candidates. The monograph is normally of somewhat narrower scope than a dissertation, but it otherwise involves the same high level of research and rigorous documentation one associates with a doctoral dissertation.

Lecture Recital with Written Document (MUS 9010)

This is an option in place of the Monograph; it does not count as one of your required recitals. The final lecture recital and written document will have the same subject, involve the same research, and present the same general information. However, the written document will not be a transcript of the lecture recital, because the presentations (oral/written) require different organization of material and different kinds of scholarly documentation. The prospectus for such a project will address both the lecture recital (including repertoire to be performed) and the organization of the written document.

Prospectus

The Prospectus is required for all final projects: Dissertation, Monograph, and Lecture-Recital with Written Document. When the candidate has developed a topic to the satisfaction of his/her major professor, the candidate will write a prospectus, which will include at least the following: 1) definition and description of the subject; 2) general description of resources required for the research and a statement about their availability; 3) a statement about the methods and procedures and 4) a representative bibliography. The approved prospectus will be placed in the student's file in the School of Music. It is highly recommended that the Prospectus be approved at the student's General Exam.

Final Examination

When the final research project is completed, the candidate will submit to the Graduate School a Request for Final Examination. The date for the Final Examination is set by the student and the Committee Chair in consultation with the candidate and other members of the committee. The committee should have the same members, including the Dean's representative, as served for the general examination. The candidate must supply each member of the committee, including the Dean's representative, with a copy of the final version of the research project at least two weeks before the date selected for the Final Examination, or by the deadline set each semester by the Graduate School, whichever is earlier.

Scheduling a Final Examination

Deadlines and procedures for scheduling and reporting the General Exams are strictly enforced by the Graduate School. Students are strongly advised to meet all deadlines in order to avoid delays in graduation. It is advisable to make an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies several months before you anticipate taking your final exam to discuss the procedure. The "Request for Doctoral Final Exam" is available online on the Graduate School website/enrolled students/forms

Submission to the Graduate School

After a successful defense of the final document and any final corrections required by the committee are completed, a report of the result of the Final Examination is sent forward to the Graduate School by the Director of Graduate Studies. Student are advised to meet with the Graduate School Editor before making the final copies of his/her document for the committee, to make sure that all questions of form and format are settled to the satisfaction of the Graduate School. Students are not cleared for graduation until the Graduate School gives final approval to the completed and corrected document. The student is responsible for meeting all deadlines and requirements set by the Graduate School in regard to submission and uploading of completed documents. Be aware that as the end of each semester approaches, delays can occur in the approval process. Do not wait until the deadline to upload your work, or your graduation may be delayed.

Guidelines for Doctoral Minor Area Requirements

Courses in the minor area may not also apply to major area except as stated for Musicology and Music Theory courses. The specific Program of Study for an individual will be designed by the minor professor.
Admission to minor areas and coursework require the approval of the minor area coordinator and/or the minor area doctoral committee member and the student's doctoral committee. An audition/interview may be required in some areas. The deadline for application of approval of a minor area in music is the end of the 6th week of classes in any given semester.

MASTER OF MUSIC - BRASS PERFORMANCE

(Trumpet, French Horn, Trombone, Euphonium, or Tuba)

A minimum of 30 semester hours of graduate credit is required to complete the degree. Up to six hours of graduate credit may be transferred from another institution if such credit duplicates required or elective courses at LSU and is approved by the Area Coordinator of the subject area. The Master's degree must be completed in five years.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must first apply to the LSU Graduate School and meet all requirements for admission as specified in the current Graduate Catalog (available under "resources" on the Grad School home page). Send official transcripts of all undergraduate work to the Graduate School. The GRE is not required. Applicants must hold a baccalaureate degree in music with an overall GPA of 3.0 (on a 4-point scale). The area faculty will evaluate a performance audition consisting of excerpts from repertory drawn from different epochs. A live audition is preferred, but applicants may request a recorded audition.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who do not pass the theory exam must pass Music 3703 Theory Survey before they can enroll in 7000-level music theory courses; students who do not pass the music history exam must pass Music 3710 Overview of Western Music History before they can enroll in 7000-level music history courses.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATIONS

During the final semester of the degree, students take a Comprehensive Exam administered by the area faculty. Each student is assigned an Advisory Committee consisting of three members: a major professor and one other member of the area faculty, plus one additional member of the music faculty. At least one member must be a full member of the Graduate Faculty.

MASTER OF MUSIC - CHORAL CONDUCTING

A minimum of 30 semester hours of graduate credit is required to complete the degree. Up to six hours of graduate credit may be transferred from another institution if such credit duplicates required or elective courses at LSU and is approved by the Area Coordinator of the subject area. The Master's degree must be completed within five years.

Electives: chosen in consultation with advisor 9

Thesis Option: (see below under Comprehensive Examination)

Students may elect to write a Master's Thesis and register for at least six hours of Music 8000, in which case they will have only three hours of electives in the previous category.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must first apply to the LSU Graduate School and meet all requirements for admission as specified in the current Graduate Catalog (available under "resources" on the Grad School home page). Send official transcripts of all undergraduate work to the Graduate School. The GRE is not required. Applicants must hold a baccalaureate degree in music with an overall GPA of 3.0 (on a 4-point scale).

Alternate Certification: If the undergraduate degree is not in music education but is in another area of music, applicants for the master's degree in music education must complete additional requirements for certification (including one semester of student teaching) before the master's degree can be awarded. Certification requires 33 semester credit hours, nine of which are student teaching credits. Course requirements are determined by the music education faculty using State Department of Education guidelines after an evaluation of the student's undergraduate transcript. Students should send a transcript to the Coordinator of Music Education for evaluation.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who do not pass the theory exam must pass

Music 3703 Theory Survey before they can enroll in 7000-level music theory courses; students who do not pass the music history exam must pass Music 3710 Overview of Western Music History before they can enroll in 7000-level music history courses.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

During the final semester of the degree, music education students must pass a written comprehensive exam or defend their thesis; the date stated on the request for masters exam will be the date of the oral examination by a committee consisting of the major professor and two other graduate music faculty, at least one of whom must be a full member of the Graduate Faculty.

Thesis Option: Students may elect to write a thesis in lieu of the comprehensive exam. An oral defense is required, at which additional questions will be posed to test the student's comprehensive knowledge of the area of study. Additionally, six credits in MUS 8000 must be satisfactorily completed.

MASTER OF MUSIC - MUSIC THEORY

A minimum of 30 semester hours of graduate credit is required to complete the degree. Up to six hours of graduate credit may be transferred from another institution if such credit duplicates required or elective courses at LSU and is approved by the Area Coordinator of the course subject. The Master's degree must be completed within five years.

CURRICULUM

Required Coursework:	Credits:

(Courses selected from OUTSIDE the major area of study)
 Other requirements:
Reading knowledge of German *
Keyboard proficiency, as tested by the music theory faculty

* Satisfactory completion of GER 4005 (German for Reading Knowledge) or passing a translation examination administered by the music theory faculty will satisfy this requirement.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must first apply to the LSU Graduate School and meet all requirements for admission as specified in the current Graduate Catalog (available under "resources" on the Grad School home page). Send official transcripts of all undergraduate work to the Graduate School. The GRE is not required. Applicants must hold a baccalaureate degree in music with an overall GPA of 3.0 (on a 4-point scale). In addition, applicants in music theory are required to present an example of their work in theory, preferably an analysis paper, and to submit current GRE scores to the School of Music. An interview is recommended.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who do not pass the theory exam must pass Music 3703 Theory Survey before they can enroll in 7000-level music theory courses; students who do not pass the music history exam must pass Music 3710 Overview of Western Music History before they can enroll in 7000-level music history courses.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

During the final semester of the degree, composition students must pass a written comprehensive exam and defend their theses; the date stated on the request for masters exam will be the date of the oral examination by a committee consisting of the major professor and two other graduate music faculty, at least one of whom must be a full member of the Graduate Faculty.

MASTER OF MUSIC - MUSICOLOGY

A minimum of 30 semester hours of graduate credit is required to complete the degree. Up to six hours of graduate credit may be transferred from another institution if such credit duplicates required or elective courses at LSU and is approved by the Area Coordinator of the course subject. The Master's degree must be completed within five years.

one 7000-level	Music Theory course	3
MUS 7600	Sources of Music Study & Research	3
Electives:	Chosen in consultation with advisor	6
Other requirements:	Reading knowledge in one foreign language **

* The thesis must document original research in music history. Students must prepare a prospectus describing the scope and significance of the project, working methods, and basic bibliography. The prospectus must be approved by an advisory committee consisting of the major professor, a member from the music field and at least one other member of the graduate faculty.

 A reading knowledge of a foreign language appropriate to the student's field of study is required. The language requirement may be fulfilled through successful completion of a reading-knowledge examination administered by the Musicology area or by a designated member of an appropriate foreign-language department.

Students must pass a "Styles Exam" in which they describe the style of four to six unknown pieces of music (in score or by listening). It is recommended that the exam be taken early in a student's course of study. The exam will be given twice a year (once in the fall semester and once in the spring semester) and can be retaken as many times as necessary.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must first apply to the LSU Graduate School and meet all requirements for admission as specified in the current Graduate Catalog (available under "resources" on the Grad School home page). Send official transcripts of all undergraduate work to the Graduate School. The GRE is not required. Applicants must hold a baccalaureate degree in music with an overall GPA of 3.0 (on a 4-point scale). In addition, applicants in musicology are required to present an example of written work in music history (for instance, a term paper for an undergraduate music history course.)

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who do not pass the theory exam must pass Music 3703 Theory Survey before they can enroll in 7000-level music theory courses; students who do not pass the music history exam must pass Music 3710 Overview of Western Music History before they can enroll in 7000-level music history courses.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

During the final semester of the degree, the student must pass a written examination that tests a general knowledge of music history and to make a successful oral defense of the thesis before the advisory committee. At least two of the members must come from the student's primary area of study; one must be a full member of the Graduate Faculty.

MASTER OF MUSIC - ORCHESTRAL CONDUCTING

A minimum of 30 semester hours of graduate credit is required to complete the degree. Electives	Chosen in consultation with advisor	2
Final Research Project	Select one of the following:	9
MUS 9009	Monograph
MUS 9010	Lecture Recital with Written Document

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must first apply to the LSU Graduate School and meet all requirements for admission as specified in the current Graduate Catalog (available under "resources" on the Grad School home page). Applicants for this degree must hold an appropriate Master's degree (with cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher (on a 4-point scale). Send official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate coursework to the Graduate School. An acceptable score (combined verbal and quantitative) on the GRE is also required. In addition, applicants must perform an audition of advanced solo works from the standard literature representative of various styles and periods. A live audition is preferred, but applicants may request permission to send a recording or video.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. (Exception: students who have earned an MM from LSU within the past four years are exempt from diagnostic testing.) Students who do not pass the theory exam must pass Music 3703 Theory Survey before they can enroll in 7000-level music theory courses; students who do not pass the music history exam must pass Music 3710 Overview of Western Music History before they can enroll in 7000-level music history courses.

QUALIFYING EXAMINATION

All entering doctoral students must take a Qualifying Examination during the first year of study. This requirement fulfills Graduate School requirements for a "Milestone Exam." Following the passage of the exam, the student should schedule an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies to prepare a draft of the Doctoral Degree Audit, outlining the curricular requirements in both major and minor fields of study.

DOCTORAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Upon completion of the Qualifying Exam, students choose an advisory committee in consultation with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The minor professor must be a member of the committee along with one additional music faculty member, who is normally a member of the major area faculty. The Graduate School will appoint a Dean's Representative who will serve at the General and Final Examinations. All committee members must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty, and at least two must be full members.

RECITALS

Each DMA candidate is required to present four DMA performances, the nature of which is determined after the successful completion of the Qualifying Examination. Repertoire must be approved at the beginning of the semester in which the recital is to be presented. Solo doctoral recitals will be preceded by a hearing before the brass faculty two weeks before the scheduled recital.

MINOR

A minor is required for this degree. The minor is a coherent program of study determined by the minor area faculty, and will normally consist of at least 9 hours of 7000-level graduate credit. The minor area may be either within or outside the School of Music, and may be chosen from any area or department in which a graduate degree is offered. Major and minor professors must be different individuals. If music history or music theory is chosen as the minor, the two required history or theory courses may count toward the minor, and six additional hours of electives shall be added to the curriculum.

GENERAL EXAMINATION

The General Examination may be taken when all, or nearly all course requirements (including recitals) have been completed, usually during the last semester of course work. This examination is a combination of written and oral questions, and includes questions about the major area and the minor area, as well as questions pertaining to other pertinent musical knowledge.

FINAL EXAMINATION (defense)

Students request a final examination after all coursework, recitals, and the final research project are completed. The examination will, for the most part, be concerned with the defense of the final research project. A minimum of three calendar months must pass between the time of the General Examination and the Final Examination.

DOCTOR OF MUSICAL ARTS - CHORAL CONDUCTING

The DMA curriculum in choral conducting is designed to prepare choral musicians in the skills necessary to research, rehearse, and conduct authentic and artistic performances of choral music at the college or university level or in professional settings. The degree requires a minimum of 60 hours of acceptable credit beyond a 30-hour master's degree in music.

CURRICULUM	Credits:
Required Coursework:
MUS 7928, 7929	Seminar in Choral Repertoire 3, 3
MUS 7721, 7722	Survey of Choral Literature 3, 3
MUS 7771, 7772	Advanced Choral Conducting 3, 3
Other Required Coursework in Music:
MUS 7800	Intro to Research 3
MUS 7700	Survey of Analytical Techniques 3
Any one additional 7000-level	Music Theory course 3
Any two 7000-level	Music History Courses 3, 3
Required Recitals.
MUS 9001	Doctoral Recital 3
MUS 9002	Second Doctoral Recital 3
Minor Area: Selected in consultation with Minor professor	9 (minimum)
Electives:	Chosen in consultation with advisor 3
Final Research Project:
MUS 9009	Monograph 9

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must first apply to the LSU Graduate School and meet all requirements for admission as specified in the current Graduate Catalog (available under "resources" on the Grad School home page). Applicants for this degree must hold an appropriate Master's degree (with cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher (on a 4-point scale). Send official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate coursework to the Graduate School. An acceptable score (combined verbal and quantitative) on the GRE is also required. In addition, applicants in choral conducting must submit the following: a) a complete vita that chronicles conducting experience in public school, college/university work, or in professional settings; b) complete lists of works conducted in performance; c) an audio audition recording of 20-30 minutes which exhibits choral performance from a variety of style/periods; and d) a videotape or DVD of choral rehearsals and/or performances. An on-campus audition is required, and may be scheduled by contacting the Director of Choral Studies.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. (Exception: students who have earned an MM from LSU within the past four years are exempt from diagnostic testing.) Students who do not pass the theory exam must pass Music 3703 Theory Survey before they can enroll in 7000-level music theory courses; students who do not pass the music history exam must pass Music 3710 Overview of Western Music History before they can enroll in 7000-level music history courses.

QUALIFYING EXAMINATION

All entering doctoral students must take a Qualifying Examination during the first year of study. This requirement fulfills Graduate School requirements for a “Milestone Exam.” Following the passage of the exam, the student should schedule an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies to prepare a draft of the Doctoral Degree Audit, outlining the curricular requirements in both major and minor fields of study.

OTHER REQUIREMENTS

Ensemble: DMA students are expected to participate in appropriate ensemble(s) each semester. Depending upon the student’s experience, some of those accumulated hours may be counted toward the degree.

Piano Proficiency: Each student must demonstrate, prior to the general exams, ability to read simple choral open scores and independent lines in all clefs, to realize piano reductions of choral scores, and to transpose and play independent lines of instrumental scores.

DOCTORAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Upon completion of the Qualifying Exam, students choose an advisory committee in consultation with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The minor professor must be a member of the committee along with one additional music faculty member, who is normally a member of the major area faculty. The Graduate School will appoint a Dean’s Representative who will serve at the General and Final Examinations. All committee members must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty, and at least two must be full members.

MINOR

A minor is required for this degree. The minor is a coherent program of study determined by the minor area faculty, and will normally consist of at least 9 hours of 7000-level graduate credit. The minor area may be either within or outside the School of Music, and may be chosen from any area or department in which a graduate degree is offered. Major and minor professors must be different individuals. If music history or music theory is chosen as the minor, the two required history or theory courses may count toward the minor, and six additional hours of electives shall be added to the curriculum.

GENERAL EXAMINATION

The General Examination may be taken when all, or nearly all course requirements (including recitals) have been completed, usually during the last semester of course work. This examination is a combination of written and oral questions, and includes questions about the major area and the minor area, as well as questions pertaining to other pertinent musical knowledge.

FINAL RESEARCH PROJECT

DMA candidates must complete MUS 9009 Monograph. The monograph is normally of narrower scope than a dissertation, but it otherwise involves the same high level of research and rigorous documentation one associates with a doctoral dissertation. The subject of the monograph should be related to one’s major and should result in an original contribution to knowledge in that area.

FINAL EXAMINATION (defense)

The final examination is to be taken after all work, including the final research project, is completed. The examination will, for the most part, be concerned with the defense of the final research project. A minimum of three calendar months must pass between the time of the General Examination and the Final Examination.

DOCTOR OF MUSICAL ARTS – ORCHESTRAL CONDUCTING

The DMA curriculum in Orchestral Conducting is designed to prepare students in the knowledge and skills necessary to research, rehearse, and conduct authentic and artistic performances of orchestral music at the college or university level or in professional settings. The degree requires a minimum of 60 hours of acceptable credit beyond a 30-hour master's degree in music.

CURRICULUM	Credits:
Required Coursework:
MUS 7775, 7776 Advanced Orchestral Conducting	3,3
MUS 7725, 7726 Survey of Symphonic Literature	2,2
MUS 9758, 9759 Repertoire	3,3
MUS 4261 Symphony Orchestra	1,1
Other Required Coursework in Music:
MUS 7800 Introduction to Research in Music	3
MUS 7700 Survey of Analytical Techniques	3
Additional 7000-level Music Theory course	3
Any two 7000-level Music History courses	3, 3
Required Recitals:
MUS 9001 First Doctoral Recital	3
MUS 9002 Second Doctoral Recital	3
Minor Area: Selected in consultation with Minor professor	9 (minimum)
Electives: Chosen in consultation with advisor	3
Final Research Project. Select one of the following:	9
MUS 9009 Monograph
MUS 9010 Lecture Rec. with Written Document

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must first apply to the LSU Graduate School and meet all requirements for admission as specified in the current Graduate Catalog (available under "resources" on the Grad School home page). Applicants for this degree must hold an appropriate Master's degree (with cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher (on a 4-point scale). Send official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate coursework to the Graduate School. An acceptable score (combined verbal and quantitative) on the GRE is also required. In addition, applicants in orchestral conducting must submit the following: a) a complete vita that chronicles conducting experience in public school, community, college/university work, or in professional settings; b) a complete repertoire list including works conducted in performance, in rehearsal, and studied; c) an audio audition tape of 20-30 minutes which exhibits orchestral performance from a variety of style/periods with the applicant as the conductor; and d) a videotape of rehearsals and/or performances in which the applicant is the conductor. An on-campus audition/interview is required for applicants living in the United States, and may be scheduled by contacting the Director of Orchestral Studies. Applicants living outside of the United States will be evaluated based on telephone interview with the Director of Orchestral Studies in addition to the above-mentioned submissions of application material.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. (Exception: students who have earned an MM from LSU within the past four years are exempt from diagnostic testing.) Students who do not pass the theory exam must pass Music 3703 Theory Survey before they can enroll in 7000-level music theory courses; students who do not pass the music history exam must pass Music 3710 Overview of Western Music History before they can enroll in 7000-level music history courses.

DMA candidates must complete MUS 9009 Monograph, or MUS 9010 Lecture Recital with Written Document. The monograph is normally of narrower scope than a dissertation, but it otherwise involves the same high level of research and rigorous documentation one associates with a doctoral dissertation. The subject of the monograph should be related to one's major and should result in an original contribution to knowledge in that area. The Lecture Recital with Written Document includes a lecture as accompaniment to a recital of modest scope, plus a formal written document (see p. xxx above for further description).

FINAL EXAMINATION (defense)

The final examination is to be taken after all work, including the final research project, is completed. The examination will, for the most part, be concerned with the defense of the final research project. A minimum of three calendar months must pass between the time of the General Examination and the Final Examination.

DOCTOR OF MUSICAL ARTS – ORGAN PERFORMANCE

The DMA curriculum in organ performance is designed to prepare students to be artist-performers and to teach at the college or university level. The degree requires a minimum of 60 hours of acceptable credit beyond a 30-hour master's degree in music.

additional 7000-level	Music Theory course	3
any two 7000-level	Music History courses	3,3
Required Recitals:
MUS 9001	First Doctoral Solo Recital	3
MUS 9008	DMA Chamber Music Recital	2
	And select TWO from the following:	3 minimum
MUS 9002	Second Doctoral Solo Recital (3)
MUS 9003	Doctoral Lecture Recital (1-3)
MUS 9005	Concerto with Orchestra (1-2)
Minor Area	Chosen in consultation with Minor professor	9 (minimum)
Electives	Chosen in consultation with advisor	2-3 minimum
Final Research Project	Select one of the following	9
MUS 9009	Monograph
MUS 9010	Lecture Recital with Written Document

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must meet all rules and regulations of the LSU Graduate School (see current catalog). An appropriate Master's degree with a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 (out of 4.00) on all graduate and undergraduate work is required for non-probational admission. An acceptable score [combined verbal/quantitative] on the GRE is also required. Applicants must submit a letter of intent, an application for admission, and official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate work. In addition, applicants are required to perform an audition of selections from different musical epochs. Although a live audition is preferred, the applicant may request permission to audition by recorded media.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) are required to take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who graduate with an LSU Master's in Music, and re-enroll in the doctorate within four years, are exempt from these examinations. Students who do not pass the music theory examination will be required to complete MUS 3703.

QUALIFYING EXAMINATION

All entering doctoral students are required to take a Qualifying Examination soon after enrollment in the degree. This requirement fulfills Graduate School requirements for a "Milestone Exam." Until the Examination is passed, the student's status is considered probationary. Following the passage of the Exam, the student should schedule an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies to prepare a draft of the Doctoral Degree Audit, outlining the student's curricular requirements in both major and minor fields of study. The Qualifying Examination may not be waived.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT AND TIME LIMIT

There is no residency requirement by the Graduate School. The doctoral degree must be completed within seven years. For additional information regarding these matters, please see the details listed earlier in this School of Music Graduate Handbook.

DOCTORAL RECITALS

Each DMA candidate shall present four DMA performances, the nature of which are determined after the successful completion of the Qualifying Recital. Repertoire for solo recitals may not have appeared on any previous recitals given to satisfy a bachelor's or master's degree program. It may include material from the audition and/or Qualifying Recital, so long as the above stipulation is met. Repertoire must be approved at the beginning of the semester in which the recital is to be presented. Solo doctoral recitals will be preceded by a hearing before the string faculty two weeks before the scheduled recital.

MINOR

A minor is required for the DMA. The minor program will be organized as a coherent program of study as determined by the minor area or department faculty, and will normally consist of 12 hours of 7000-level graduate credit. The specific program of study for an individual student will be designed by the minor professor, but both the minor professor and the coordinator of the minor area or the chair of the minor department must sign approval of the minor program. The minor professor will serve on the committee for the student's general and final examinations, and will submit questions for the written examination. The minor area may be either within or outside the School of Music, and may be chosen from any area or department in which a graduate degree is offered. Major and minor professors must be different individuals. If music history or music theory are chosen as the minor area, the required courses in this area MAY (if agreed upon in consultation with the minor professor) count toward fulfillment of the minor requirement.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The advisory committee should be chosen in consultation with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The minor professor must be a member of the committee - two other music faculty members may be chosen by the student and advisor. (At least two members must come from the student's immediate area of study.) The Graduate School will appoint an outside member to the committee. All members of the committee must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty - at least two must be at the Full Member rank.

FINAL RESEARCH PROJECT

DMA candidates may choose MUS 9009 Monograph or MUS 9010 Lecture-Recital with Written Document. The monograph is normally of narrower scope than a dissertation, but it otherwise involves the same high level of research and rigorous documentation one associates with a doctoral dissertation. The subject of the monograph should be related to one's major and should result in an original contribution to knowledge in that area. The two parts of the final lecture recital and written document will present the same general information, but will differ in presentation. The written document will not be a transcript of the lecture recital, however. The prospectus and final exam will encompass both the lecture recital, including repertoire to be performed, and the written document. Both the Monograph and the Lecture-Recital with Written Document require a prospectus, a reading subcommittee, and a final exam (defense).

GENERAL EXAMINATION

The General Examination may be taken when all, or nearly all course requirements (including recital courses) have been completed, or during the last semester of course work. This examination is a combination of written, aural, and oral, and includes questions about the major area and the minor area, as well as questions pertaining to other musical knowledge.

FINAL EXAMINATION (defense)

The final examination is to be taken after all work, including the final research project, is completed. The examination will, for the most part, be concerned with the defense of the final research project. A minimum of three calendar months must pass between the time of the General Examination and the Final Examination.

Consult the University Catalog and the Graduate Bulletin for additional regulations regarding graduate study. The right is reserved to correct any typographical errors on this document.

Minor: Selected in consultation with Minor professor 12 (normally)

Electives:

Chosen in consultation with advisor 3 (minimum)
Suggested electives include courses in applied lessons, literature, pedagogy, and ensembles

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must meet all requirements of the LSU Graduate School (see current catalog). An appropriate Master's degree with a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 (out of 4.00) on all previous study is required for non-probational admission. An acceptable score [combined verbal/quantitative] on the GRE is also required. Applicants must submit a letter of intent, an application for admission, a pre-screening CD or DVD, and official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate work. In addition and if invitation is presented, applicants must perform a live audition of selections from different musical epochs. A live audition is preferred; however, the applicant may request permission to audition by recorded media.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) are required to take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who graduate with an LSU Master's in Music, and re-enroll in the doctorate within four years, are exempt from these examinations. Students who do not pass the music theory examination will be required to complete MUS 3703.

QUALIFYING EXAMINATION

All entering doctoral students are required to take a Qualifying Examination soon after enrollment in the degree. This requirement fulfills Graduate School requirements for a "Milestone Exam." Until the Examination is passed, the student's status is considered probationary. Following the passage of the Exam, the student should schedule an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies to prepare a draft of the Doctoral Degree Audit, outlining the student's curricular requirements in both major and minor fields of study. The Qualifying Examination may not be waived.

RECITALS

MUS 9001 (First Doctoral Solo Recital) is required, and must be given before any other recitals. Repertoire for solo recitals may not have appeared on any previous recitals for a bachelor's or master's degree program. Material from the Audition and/or Qualifying Audition may be included so long as the above stipulation is met. Repertoire must be approved well in advance by members of the voice faculty serving on the student advisory committee.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT AND TIME LIMIT

There is no residency requirement by the Graduate School. The doctoral degree must be completed within seven years. For additional information regarding these matters, please see the details listed earlier in this School of Music Graduate Handbook.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The advisory committee should be chosen in consultation with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The committee should be chosen so as to include appropriate members of the voice faculty representing pedagogy, literature, and diction, plus the minor professor. (At least two members must come from the student's immediate area of study.) The Graduate School will appoint an outside member to the committee. All members of the committee must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty - at least two must be at the Full Member rank.

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

Each DMA voice student will be required to have studied two foreign languages (selected from French, German, and Italian). There must be two semesters or the equivalent of undergraduate study in one language. In the second language, proficiency must be shown as equivalent to one semester of a reading course or two semesters or the equivalent of undergraduate study. See the Voice Area Policies handbook online for further details.

MINOR

A minor is required for the DMA. The minor program will be organized as a coherent program of study as determined by the minor area or department faculty, and will normally consist of 12 hours of 7000-level graduate credit, designed by the minor professor, who will serve on the committee for the student's general and final examinations. The minor area may be either within or outside the School of Music, and may be chosen from any area or department in which a graduate degree is offered (Voice Performance Majors may minor in Voice Science. Major and minor professors must be different individuals. If music history or music theory are chosen as the minor area, the required courses in this area MAY (if agreed upon in consultation with the minor professor) count toward fulfillment of the minor requirement.

FINAL RESEARCH PROJECT

DMA candidates may choose MUS 9009 Monograph or MUS 9010 Lecture-Recital with Written Document. The monograph is normally of narrower scope than a dissertation, but it otherwise involves the same high level of research and rigorous documentation one associates with a doctoral dissertation. The subject of the monograph should be related to one's major and should result in an original contribution to knowledge in that area. ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must meet all rules and regulations of the LSU Graduate School (see current catalog). An appropriate Master's degree with a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 (out of 4.00) on all graduate and undergraduate work is required for non-probational admission. An acceptable score [combined verbal/quantitative] on the GRE is also required. Applicants must submit a letter of intent, an application for admission, and official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate work. In addition, applicants in wind conducting must submit the following: a) a complete vita that chronicles conducting experience in public school, college/university work, or in professional settings; b) complete lists of works conducted in performance; c) an audio audition recording of 20-30 minutes which exhibits band/wind performance from a variety of style/periods; and d) a videotape or DVD of rehearsals and/or performances. An on-campus audition is required, and may be scheduled by contacting the Director of Bands. (Obtain Addenda to Wind Conducting admission requirements from the Department of Bands).

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) are required to take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who graduate with an LSU Master's in Music, and re-enroll in the doctorate within four years, are exempt from these examinations. The Qualifying Examination may not be waived.

OTHER REQUIREMENTS

Ensemble: DMA students are expected to participate in appropriate ensemble(s) each semester. Depending upon the student's experience, some of those accumulated hours may be counted toward the degree.

Piano Proficiency: Each student must demonstrate, prior to the general exams, ability to read and transpose band/wind ensemble scores by playing independent lines in all clefs.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT AND TIME LIMIT

There is no residency requirement by the Graduate School. The doctoral degree must be completed within seven years. For additional information regarding these matters, please see the details listed earlier in this School of Music Graduate Handbook.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The advisory committee should be chosen in consultation with the major professor, who will chair the committee. If music history or music theory are chosen as the minor area, the required courses in this area MAY (if agreed upon in consultation with the minor professor) count toward fulfillment of the minor requirement.

FINAL RESEARCH PROJECT

DMA candidates must complete MUS 9009 Monograph (9 credit hours required). The monograph is normally of narrower scope than a dissertation, but it otherwise involves the same high level of research and rigorous documentation one associates with a doctoral dissertation. The subject of the monograph should be related to one's major and should result in an original contribution to knowledge in that area. The Monograph requires a prospectus, a reading subcommittee, and a final exam (defense).

any two 7000-level	Music History courses	3, 3
Minor Area:	Selected in consultation with Minor professor	12 (normally)
Electives:	Chosen in consultation with advisor

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must meet all rules and regulations of the LSU Graduate School (see current catalog). An appropriate Master's degree with a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 (out of 4.00) on all graduate and undergraduate work is required for non-probational admission. An acceptable score [combined verbal/quantitative] on the GRE is also required. Applicants must submit a letter of intent, an application for admission, and official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate work. In addition, applicants to this program must submit a list of compositions, scores in a variety of media, and recorded media if available.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) are required to take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who graduate with an LSU Master's in Music, and re-enroll in the doctorate within four years, are exempt from these examinations. Students who do not pass the music theory examination will be required to complete MUS 3703.

The Qualifying Examination may not be waived.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT AND TIME LIMIT

There is no residency requirement by the Graduate School. The doctoral degree must be completed within seven years. For additional information regarding these matters, please see the details listed earlier in this School of Music Graduate Handbook.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The advisory committee should be chosen in consultation with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The minor professor must be a member - two other music faculty members may be chosen by the student and advisor. At least two faculty should come from the student's immediate area of study. However, when scheduling conflicts arise, then the graduate committee for Doctoral students in Composition will be considered appropriate with only one member of the composition faculty. The Graduate School will appoint an outside member to the committee. All members of the committee must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty - at least two must be at the Full Member rank.

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS

Each PhD Composition student will be required to demonstrate proficiency in one foreign language at the level of two semesters of study. Language and proficiency shall be determined in consultation with the composition faculty.

OTHER REQUIREMENTS

Composers Forum: All composition majors are required to participate in this weekly symposium.

MINOR

A minor is required for the PhD. The minor program will be organized as a coherent program of study as determined by the minor area or department faculty, and will normally consist of 12 hours of 7000-level graduate credit, designed by the minor professor, who will serve on the committee for the student's general and final examinations. The minor area may be either within or outside the School of Music, and may be chosen from any area or department in which a graduate degree is offered. Major and minor professors must be different individuals. If music history or music theory is chosen as the minor area, the required courses in this area MAY (if agreed upon in consultation with the minor professor) count toward fulfillment of the minor requirement.

DISSERTATION

The dissertation includes as the final research project two components: a) An original composition of no less than 20 minutes employing orchestra, such as a symphony, opera, cantata, oratorio, or concerto. This work may also include electro-acoustically generated sounds. b) An original report demonstrating original research on a topic other than the candidate's own composition. It may consist of a study of the contributions of a composer, of a group of compositions, or individual concepts and techniques of composition in contemporary practice. Prior to beginning the dissertation, the student must submit a prospectus to the advisory committee for approval of the entire research project. Students who have demonstrated to the composition faculty a mastery of the orchestra through written composition equivalent to the dissertation's required composition may present a work that does not include orchestra.

GENERAL EXAMINATION

The General Examination may be taken when all, or nearly all course requirements have been completed, or during the last semester of course work. This examination is a combination of written and oral questions, and includes questions about the major area and the minor area, as well as questions pertaining to other pertinent musical knowledge.

FINAL EXAMINATION (defense)

The final examination is to be taken after all work, including the final research project, is completed. The examination will, for the most part, be concerned with the defense of the final research project. DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY (EXPERIMENTAL MUSIC & DIGITAL MEDIA)

The PhD curriculum in Experimental Music & Digital Media (EM/DM) is designed to prepare students to be composers, performers or music researchers whose work explores music technology, digital media and experimentation in either professional or academic settings. Graduates will also be prepared to teach electroacoustic music, digital media and music technology at the college-university level. It requires a minimum of 60 hours of acceptable graduate credit beyond a 30 credit hour master's degree. A master's degree in music, computer science, electrical/computer engineering or related field, and evidence of previous experience in EM/DM are required to enter this curriculum.

An acceptable score [combined verbal/quantitative] on the GRE is also required.

Applicants must submit a letter of intent, an application for admission, and official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate work. In addition, applicants to this program must submit a portfolio representative of their prior work in this area. The portfolio should include scores (where applicable), recorded media (CDs DVDs, etc.), and a list of work that demonstrates the student's interest and abilities in experimental music, electroacoustic music or digital media. A committee consisting of the EM/DM area coordinator and at least two potential committee chairs will review and approve all applications for admission.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) are required to take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who graduate with an LSU Master's in Music, and re-enroll in the doctorate within four years, are exempt from these examinations. ADVISORY COMMITTEE The advisory committee should be chosen in consultation with the area coordinator of EM/DM and with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The minor professor must be a member - two other music faculty members may be chosen by the student and advisor. At least two faculty should come from the student's immediate area of study. The Graduate School will appoint an outside member to the committee. All members of the committee must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty - at least two must be at the Full Member rank.

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS Each PhD EM/DM student will be required to demonstrate advanced reading knowledge in a foreign language appropriate to his/her studies. Language and proficiency shall be determined in consultation with the EM/DM faculty.

MINOR A minor is required for the PhD. The minor program will be organized as a coherent program of study as determined by the minor area or department faculty, and will normally consist of 12 hours of 7000-level graduate credit, designed by the minor professor, who will serve on the committee for the student's general and final examinations. The minor area may be either within or outside the School of Music, and should be chosen from the following areas, departments or schools: Composition, Performance, Musicology, Music Theory, Music Education, Art, Computer Science, Electrical and Computer Engineering, or Theatre. Other minor areas may be chosen with the approval of the student's committee.

Major and minor professors must be different individuals. If composition, applied music, music history or music theory is chosen as the minor area, the required courses in this area MAY (if agreed upon in consultation with the minor professor) count toward fulfillment of the minor requirement.

RECITAL

Students will be required to present a recital, the nature of which is to be determined by the student's committee after the General Examination. The recital should include compositions the student has written or prepared for performance during his/her residency in the program, and (where applicable) the composition portion of the student's dissertation.

DISSERTATION

The PhD dissertation should make a significant and unique contribution to the art, practice and theoretical understanding of experimental music and digital media. Such contributions would include a written document, along with an original composition, a performance recital or other digitally mediated content of extended scope and depth all of which engages musical experimentation and digital media. The full nature of the dissertation is to be proposed in a prospectus by the student and must be approved by the student's advisory committee.

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN MUSIC (MUSIC EDUCATION)

The PhD curriculum in Music (Music Education concentration) is offered to students who show promise as outstanding researchers and master teachers of music. The degree is awarded to candidates who complete the course of study with distinction, demonstrating outstanding ability in original research, scholarly study, and excellence in teaching. The degree requires 53 hours beyond the master's degree in music.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must meet all rules and regulations of the LSU Graduate School (see current catalog). A Master's degree in an appropriate area, with a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 (out of 4.00) on all graduate and undergraduate work is required for non-probational admission. An acceptable score [combined verbal/quantitative] on the GRE is also required. Applicants must submit a letter of intent, an application for admission, official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate work, a copy of your valid teaching certificate, and evidence of your teaching ability and musicianship through the following: 1) Video of class teaching, ensemble rehearsal, or ensemble performance for which you were solely responsible for student preparation. You may also submit a score and audio of original music composition. In addition, applicants in music education must demonstrate completion of three years of outstanding contractual teaching in either an elementary or secondary school or a university (exceptions in rare instances only). A personal interview is required for all finalists for graduate financial awards.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) are required to take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who graduate with an LSU Master's in Music, and re-enroll in the doctorate within four years, are exempt from these examinations. Students who do not pass the music theory examination will be required to complete MUS 3703.

QUALIFYING EXAMINATION:

All entering doctoral students are required to take a Qualifying Examination soon after enrollment in the degree. This requirement fulfills Graduate School requirements for a "Milestone Exam." Until the Examination is passed, the student's status is considered probationary. Following the passage of the Exam, the student should schedule an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies to prepare a draft of the Doctoral Degree Audit, outlining the student's curricular requirements in both major and minor fields of study. The Qualifying Examination may not be waived.

RESEARCH COMPETENCIES: Research tools and techniques are required for the completion of the degree. Therefore, all doctoral students are required to complete a two-course sequence in either quantitative or qualitative statistics. These courses are offered in several departments at LSU (e.g., Experimental Statistics and Educational Leadership, Research, and Counseling). The faculty advisor will direct each student to the appropriate course sequence.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT AND TIME LIMIT

There is no residency requirement by the Graduate School. The doctoral degree must be completed within seven years. For additional information regarding these matters, please see the details listed earlier in this School of Music Graduate Handbook.

GENERAL EXAMINATION

The General Examination may be taken when all, or nearly all course requirements have been completed, or during the last semester of course work. This examination, which is prepared by the Advisory Committee, tests the breadth and depth of the student's knowledge. By passing this examination, the student will demonstrate to the faculty that a more sophisticated, scholarly, current, and greater understanding of music teaching and learning has been achieved. In addition, the student will demonstrate that s/he is ready to begin the dissertation.

FINAL EXAMINATION

The final examination is to be taken after all work, including the final research project, is completed. The examination will, for the most part, be concerned with the defense of the final research project. A minimum of three calendar months must pass between the time of the General Examination and the Final Examination.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The advisory committee should be chosen in consultation with the area coordinator of EM/DM and with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The minor professor must be a member - two other music faculty members may be chosen by the student and advisor. At least two faculty should come from the student's immediate area of study. The Graduate School will appoint an outside member to the committee. All members of the committee must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty - at least two must be at the Full Member rank.

MINOR AREA

Normally twelve credit hours are selected with the dissertation in mind. Suggested areas of study are music history, music theory, conducting (including literature), pedagogy, applied music, psychology, sociology, computer science, statistics, speech communication, educational foundations, philosophy, and so forth.

DISSERTATION

The PhD dissertation is one which makes a significant and unique contribution to the theoretical understanding of teaching and learning music. Often these dissertations are results of basic research in tempo, pitch, dynamics, timbre, style discrimination, preference, and/or performance. Other dissertations might concern unique, innovative approaches to teaching and learning. The results of these dissertations may or may not have any immediate practical value.

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN MUSIC (MUSIC HISTORY)

This program is intended to develop in students the knowledge, concepts, and techniques for musicological research and to prepare students for teaching music history at the college/university level. It requires a minimum of 51 hours of acceptable graduate credit beyond a 30 semester-hour master's degree. Students must complete all the requirements for the Master of Music degree in Musicology at LSU or the equivalent at another institution, plus the requirements as noted below under "Curriculum."

CURRICULUMRequired Coursework:

MUS 7800	Introduction to Research in Music	Credits: 3
----------	-----------------------------------	-----------------------------

Final Research Project:

MUS 9000	Dissertation	9 (minimum)
----------	--------------	-------------

Additional Courses -- Students must complete at least 48 additional hours of coursework including an appropriate selection from the following:

24 minimum

MUS 7751	Ancient & Medieval Music (3)
MUS 7752	Music of the Renaissance (3)
MUS 7753	Music in the Baroque Era (3)
MUS 7754	Music in the Classical Era (3)
MUS 7755	Music in the Romantic Era (3)
MUS 7756	Music in the Modern Era (3)
MUS 7757	American Music (3)
MUS 7760	Performance Practices (3)
MUS 7903-7904	Seminar in Music History (3, 3)

MUS 7701	Pedagogy of Music Theory (3)
MUS 7710	Theory & Analysis of Tonal Music (3)
MUS 7704	Studies in Schenkerian Analysis (3)
MUS 7711	Seminar in Post-Tonal Analysis (3)
MUS 7741	History of Music Theory I (3)
MUS 7742	History of Music Theory II (3)
MUS 7921	Seminar in Music Theory (3)

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must meet all rules and regulations of the LSU Graduate School (see current catalog). A Master's degree in an appropriate area, with a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 (out of 4.00) on all graduate and undergraduate work is required for non-probational admission. An acceptable score (combined verbal/quantitative) on the GRE is also required. Applicants must submit a letter of intent, an application for admission, and official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate work. In addition, applicants who did not receive a Master's degree in Musicology from LSU should also submit an example of written work in music history (for instance, a Master's thesis or term paper for a music history course).

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) are required to take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who graduate with an LSU Master's in Music, and re-enroll in the doctorate within four years, are exempt from these examinations. Students who do not pass the music theory examination will be required to complete MUS 3703.

QUALIFYING EXAMINATION:

All entering doctoral students are required to take a Qualifying Examination soon after enrollment in the degree. This requirement fulfills Graduate School requirements for a "Milestone Exam." Until the Examination is passed, the student's status is considered probationary. Following the passage of the Exam, the student should schedule an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies to prepare a draft of the Doctoral Degree Audit, outlining the student's curricular requirements in both major and minor fields of study. The Qualifying Examination may not be waived.

MINOR

In consultation with the adviser, the student will select a minor area outside music. A professor representing the minor field and the selection of courses are determined by the department in which the minor is taken. Normally the minor field requires 12 credit hours, but the number may vary depending on the minor field chosen.

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

A reading knowledge of two foreign languages appropriate to the student's field of study is required. The language requirement may be fulfilled through successful completion of reading-knowledge examinations administered by the Musicology faculty or designated members of foreign-language departments.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT AND TIME LIMIT

There is no residency requirement by the Graduate School. The doctoral degree must be completed within seven years. For additional information regarding these matters, please see the details listed earlier in this School of Music Graduate Handbook

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The advisory committee should be chosen in consultation with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The remaining members will consist of one other faculty member in musicology, one in music theory, one in the minor field, and an outside member appointed by the Graduate School; additional members may be added as appropriate. All members of the committee must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty - at least two must be at the Full Member rank. The official duties of the advisory committee are to 1) approve the student's "Program of Study"; 2) administer and grade the General Examination; 3) approve the prospectus, and 4) approve the dissertation and final examination.

GENERAL EXAMINATION

The General Examination may be taken when all, or nearly all course requirements have been completed, or during the last semester of course work. This examination is a combination of written and oral questions that test a general knowledge of music history, music theory, and the minor area.

DISSERTATION

The dissertation must represent an original contribution to the field of learning. When the student has decided on a subject for research, he/she prepares a prospectus in which the limits of the area, the significance, the working methods, etc., are set forth.

FINAL EXAMINATION (defense)

The final examination is to be taken after all work, including the final research project, is completed. The examination will, for the most part, be concerned with the defense of the final research project. A minimum of three calendar months must pass between the time of the General Examination and the Final Examination.

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN MUSIC (MUSIC THEORY)

This program is intended to develop in students the knowledge, concepts, and techniques for analysis and theoretical research and to prepare students for teaching music theory at the college/university level. Students must complete (or have previously completed) all requirements for the Master of Music degree in Music Theory at LSU or its equivalent and at least 51 additional hours as required and noted below under "Curriculum."

CURRICULUM

Required Coursework:		Credits:
MUS 7800	Introduction to Research	3
MUS 7701	Music Theory Pedagogy	3
MUS 7704	Schenkerian Analysis	3 cr. beyond the Masters degree
MUS 7741, 7742	History of Music Theory	3, 3
MUS 7921	Seminar in Music Theory: Topics	3
any 7000-level course in	Music History	3
Final Research Project:
MUS 9000	Dissertation	9
Minor Area:	Selected in consultation with Minor professor	12 (normally)
Electives:	Chosen in consultation with advisor	9

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must meet all rules and regulations of the LSU Graduate School (see current catalog). A Master's degree in an appropriate area, with a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 (out of 4.00) on all graduate and undergraduate work is required for non-probational admission. An acceptable score (combined verbal/quantitative) on the GRE is also required. Applicants must submit a letter of intent, an application for admission, and official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate work. In addition, applicants must submit a sample of their work in music theory (preferably an analysis paper). An interview with the music theory faculty is recommended.

DIAGNOSTIC EXAMINATIONS

All incoming graduate students (including those holding an LSU undergraduate degree) are required to take Diagnostic Examinations in Music History and Music Theory. Students who graduate with an LSU Master's in Music, and re-enroll in the doctorate within four years, are exempt from these examinations. Students who do not pass the music theory examination will be required to complete MUS 3703.

QUALIFYING EXAMINATION:

All entering doctoral students are required to take a Qualifying Examination soon after enrollment in the degree. This requirement fulfills Graduate School requirements for a "Milestone Exam." Until the Examination is passed, the student's status is considered probationary. Following the passage of the Exam, the student should schedule an appointment with the Director of Graduate Studies to prepare a draft of the Doctoral Degree Audit, outlining the student's curricular requirements in both major and minor fields of study. The Qualifying Examination may not be waived.

MINOR

In consultation with their major professor, the student may choose a minor in a field outside music, or in any area within the School of Music in which a graduate degree is offered. If music history is the minor, the required total of 12 hours may include the required 7000-level course in music history (if approved by the minor professor).

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

Advanced reading knowledge of German is required. Reading knowledge of a second foreign language is also required, but may be replaced by proficiency in a computer programming language (or advanced computer application) if approved by the advisory committee. The language requirement may be fulfilled through successful completion of reading-knowledge examinations administered by the Music Theory faculty or designated members of foreign-language departments.

The advanced computer application requirement for the Ph.D. concentration in music theory is fulfilled if the student can satisfy both of the following requirements:

- A. Submission of a portfolio of work created with the selected notation program.
- B. Successful completion of an examination in the use of the program.

Details of these requirements are provided below.

Requirements

A. The portfolio

The portfolio must include the following:

1. Printed documents created by the student with the designated program (either Finale or Sibelius, at the choice of the student) that illustrate proficiency in authoring each of the following document types:
 - (a) A worksheet or quiz appropriate for a music theory course or lab that includes
 - Written instructions
 - Brief musical excerpts for analysis, e.g. excerpts from a four-part chorale or piano score
 - Exercises with brief incomplete musical passages that the student must complete (e.g. part-writing exercises).
 - (b) A handout appropriate for a conference presentation that includes
 - Score excerpts with captions and analytical annotations.
 - Examples of graphic analysis (e.g. Schenkarian graphs).
 - A formatted bibliography or list of sources.
 - (c) A transcription of a page or more of a published musical score, selected by the Music Theory Faculty, with all appropriate dynamics, tempo and performance indications, and related markings.
2. Readable computer files that correspond to the above:

DISSERTATION

The doctoral dissertation shall document original work in music theory. Students select a topic and (with the aid of their advisor), prepare a prospectus in which the significance and scope of the project are set forth, along with a description of methodology and an initial bibliography. The prospectus must be approved by the advisory committee.

GENERAL EXAMINATION

Upon completion of the course work, candidates must pass the Doctoral General Examination, to be administered by the music theory faculty and other members of the advisory committee.

FINAL EXAMINATION (defense)

The final examination is to be taken after all work, including the final research project, is completed. The examination will, for the most part, be concerned with the defense of the final research project. A minimum of three calendar months must pass between the time of the General Examination and the Final Examination.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT AND TIME LIMIT

There is no residency requirement by the Graduate School. The doctoral degree must be completed within seven years. For additional information regarding these matters, please see the details listed earlier in this School of Music Graduate Handbook.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The advisory committee should be chosen in consultation with the major professor, who will chair the committee. The minor professor must be a member of the committee - two other music faculty members may be chosen by the student and advisor. (At least two members must come from the student's immediate area of study.) The Graduate School will appoint an outside member to the committee. All members of the committee must be members of the LSU Graduate Faculty - at least two must be at the Full Member rank.
